BAD, BAD MAN IS GIVEN A BEATING

One of the "Township Toughs" Who Stir up Trouble on Traction Cars Comes to Grief.

LAI D OUT BY A CONDUCTOR.

Charles Carter, of this City, Who Has Been Pestered by Drunken Man, Resents It.

Lynn Miller, of Morristown, and Charles Carter, a conductor on the I. & C. traction car leaving Connersville at 5:30 p. m., had a fight Thursday evening, says the Connersville Courier.

As the car passed the McFarlan Hotel, Miller ran after the car, following it up cursing the conductor who was standing on the rear platform. When the Big Four crossing was reached, the car was stopped and the conductor went to see if the crossing was clear. He then got on the car signaling the motorman to go on. In the meantime Miller had run up nearly to the car and was still cursing, whereupon the conductor stopped the car right on the crossing, picked up a long piece of iron, got off the car and went back, meeting Miller he struck him a severe blow on the head knocking him down and he lay in the street.

The conductor consulted Mayor Barrows for a moment and got on the car and it pulled out for Indianapolis. The nature of the conversation between he and Barrows could not be learned. It is said the conductor could have avoided the trouble by running the car on. It is also said that nearly every conductor on the I. & C. line has had trouble with Miller. Miller is reported to have been drinking.

Officer Elwood appeared on the scene shortly after the scrap and assisted Miller to his feet and walked him east on Sixth street to Eastern avenue, and turned south on Eastern avenue taking him to police station.

A reporter called police station and asked what was done with Miller. The reply was that he was placed in police station and about this time Officer Elwood was called out leaving Miller in the station, when Elwood stepped out his man skidded and went somewhere, no one knows.

Elwood stated that if the man came back he would be locked up.

It was impossible to get an interview with Mr. Carter, the conductor, last night as he did not return here. But it is understood that he has had trouble with Miller before, and it is probable that bad booze and thoughts of former trouble caused Miller to want to attack Carter.

It will be recalled also that this man Miller was the fellow styled as a "steplejack" who figured in the Tribbey case in the court here.

He is also said to be an ex-prize fighter.

CAUGHT BETWEEN BUMPERS

Porter Made the Ghastly Discovery—Unfortunate's Head Mashed to a Pulp.

An itinerant barber who spent all of yesterday in Rushville trying to get a position was killed on the C. H. & D. between here and Connersville. A dispatch from Connersville to the Indianapolis Star today says of the man's death:

"The body of an unidentified man was found caught between vestibule bumpers Thursday evening on a C. H. & D. passenger train shortly before the train reached this city. The discovery was made by a porter on the train and the man's head had been caught between the vestibules of the baggage and mail cars. He evidently was a mechanic of some kind, as his tool chest was found nearby with a piece of paper in it bearing the name of F. M. Burnett. The man was roughly dressed and appeared to be about 40 years of age.

"Indianapolis papers and a sum of money were found in the man's pockets. How the man reached the bumpers is a mystery."

Can indigestion be cured? Hundreds of thousands of people who suffer from belching of gas; biliousness, sour stomach, fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, bad taste in mouth, foul breath, nervousness and other distressing symptoms, are asking themselves that question daily.

And if these same doubting dyspeptics could only read the thousands of sincere letters from people who once suffered as badly as they do now, but who have been quickly and permanently cured by the use of Mi-o-na, the mighty dyspepsia remedy that cures by removing the cause, they would go to F. The price of Mi-o-na tablets is only 50 cents, and F. B. Johnson & Co. guarantees them to cure indigestion, or money back.

Thin or lean or scrawny people will find in Mi-o-na a maker of flesh and blood, because it causes the stomach to extract more nutritious matter from the food, which quickly enriches the blood.

At HOME FURNISHING COMPANY'S

QUIT BUSINESS SALE,

Rushville, Indiana,

THE NATIONAL SALVAGE COMPANY

Now Selling the Stock Rapidly

Never in Rushville's history of merchandising were such immense crowds of people seen at any sale heretofore. The Home Furnishing Company's entire stock of Furniture, Carpets and Rugs, which is now in the hands of the National Salvage Company, and must be sold inside of ten days' time, has attracted the people of Rushville and vicinity from a radius of fifty to one hundred miles.

The Home Furnishing Company's Big Store, their entire three floors have been literally crowded with eager buyers since the opening day of this Quit Business Sale, and the many extra salespeople have worked from morning until night supplying the vast crowds that are attending this Closing Out Quit Business Sale, which is proving to be a regular feast for the public, as the sale is being given right in the height of the season, when you are thinking of replenishing your home needs.

Such a great sacrifice sale on Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, and Household Goods was never given in this vicinity before, and its equal will probably never occur again. The manager of the National Salvage Company says he has taken a knife and cut the prices square in two in order to sell the stock quickly and close it out within ten days' time. Wholesale cost of the goods has been entirely disregarded.

Their reason for making this tremendous sacrifice and giving the profits direct to the people is that they do not wish to move, pack or ship a dollars worth of this stock. That is why such low prices are quoted, in order to sell the entire stock in Rushville, during the ten days of this Closing Out, Quit Business Sale of the Home Furnishing Company's $45,000 stock of Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Household Goods, Fixtures, etc. It is certainly a rare opportunity for the people of Rushville and this section of the State to secure their household needs, especially so at this time, as it is right at the time of the year when you need these goods the most, and are thinking of replenishing your home and household needs.

Hundreds upon hundreds of people are now availing themselves of this great Closing Out, Sacrifice, Quit Business Sale of the Home Furnishing Company's entire stock at Rushville, Ind.—and well they may,—as the prices quoted are less than the actual cost of the lumber, not figuring the workmanship to produce the goods.

This certainly is a time for Furniture and Carpet buying when one dollar will go as far as three would ordinarily.

Wednesday, Thursday and today the crowds were tremendous, and tomorrow, Saturday, April 17th, will witness A STUPENDOUS JAM OF PEOPLE in attendance at this Big Sale. Many people have actually attended this sale from a distance of one hundred miles, and were more than repaid for their trip, as such a sacrifice on Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Household Goods such a sale as this is proving to be, comes but once in a lifetime. The savings to you are from $25 to $250. Money saved is money earned.

At the way the stocks were hauled away yesterday, and today the first two days of the sale, this entire $45,000 stock should be easily sold inside of the next eight days of the sale. From remarks heard upon all sides this sale is proving to be a veritable feast to the public, who are never slow in snapping up great bargains. The crowds attending this sale daily are something wonderful, and it is really hard to imagine where all the people come from. Low prices is the magnet that is drawing the big crowds of people to this sale daily.

The National Salvage Company have instructions to sell the entire stock, formerly belonging to the Home Furnishing Company at unheard of low prices, with instructions to disregard all former cost of the goods. Use good common sense, make haste, don't delay. Think what this sale means to you, and act quickly. You cannot afford to miss this sacrifice. If the saving of money means anything to you, attend this sale immediately and benefit accordingly. There will be terrific selling today, tomorrow, and the first big Saturday, April 17th, and every day, until the close of the sale, on April 24th.

The Home Furnishing Company's Big Store will remain open until 11 o'clock Saturday night, in order to accommodate the public. Be sure you find the right place, The Home Furnishing Company's Big Store at Third and Main Streets, Rushville, Ind. The entire stock is now being closed out by the National Salvage Company at 47c on the dollar at Rushville, Ind.

For Woman's Eye.

Metal trimmings, ornaments and metal cloths are much in use on the new millinery.

Coats straight around the bottom have superseded the scalloped or the pointed edges.

Quite a new feature of some of the long silk gloves is the tucked arm.

Upstanding and stiff aigrettes are popular for the spring hat.

Big fancy combs remain good for the modish coiffure.

Directoire sashes will be worn with the summer gown.

Ostrich feathers in many odd forms are being used.

The proper shaped hats for children are those that turn up or down. The straight shapes will not be worn.

Conspicuity and size will be the two main points in hat ornaments this season.

Giant bows, pinned close to the hat will be very fashionable.

The demand for scarfs still keeps on the same high road.

Tiger eyes in buckles are the rage.

Tan shoes and stockings for children will be "it."

There will be borders on all voiles and silks.

Smart Tips For Men

The colors in hats this season are greens, pearls, cedars, maples, chocolates and tans.

The spring overcoats are made mostly in green shades of velours and clear sky grays.

A novel vest is being made for summer wear of shirting material with tie to match.

GREEN TIME HERE IN ALL ITS GLORY

Many People With Case Knives and Baskets are Found Prowling Around.

GATHERING NATURE'S REMEDY

Easter hats, marbles, bock beer and "greens" all ripen about the same time, the "greens" having a little the advantage of at least the Easter hat in that the seeker for the greens gets busy sooner. The dictionary definition for greens is "leaves and stems of young plants, as spinach, beets, etc., which in the green state are boiled for food," but the man who wrote the dictionary was not up to the greens of 1909, for they include various weeds and other things which to the tenderfoot look like rank poison.

Yesterday several people with baskets and case knives were seen prowling around yards and vacant lots, and frequently they would bob down as a succulent weed was found, like a man bitten with the mushroom microbe.

Late in the day the same grass hunters were seen wending their way homeward with baskets filled with stuff which will later be cooked and served up with salt and pepper and vinegar, and be masticated with a gusto that would do honor to a terrapin.

BUSY SEASON FOR KNIGHTS OF ROAD

The Local Housewives Are Being Worried by Hungry Travelers Now.

SURE SIGN OF WARM WEATHER

Spring has brought a rush of tramps to the city and many housewives declare they are bothered three or four times a week. The tramps do not visit the uptown districts very much, preferring to stick close to the railroads. The C., C. & L. has been a great feed line for this class of nomads, but not a grub line. The crews on the freight trains are more lenient, or there is no police force to keep the bums off the cars. They come to the city in groups of four or five at a time.

A Mighty Army of Clean Headed Americans.

Thousands and thousands of heads that were dandruff filthy a year ago are scrupulously clean today.

This means that millions, yes billions, of dandruff germs have been annihilated, and cannot continue their pernicious work of hair destruction. But best of all it means that at last there is a cure, an absolutely certain cure for dandruff, one so prompt in its action and so marvelous in its results, that many are skeptical when told of what it has done.

Parisian Sage is the name of the quickacting hair restorer that is responsible for a mighty army of clean headed Americans, and its action is so certain that F. B. Johnson & Co., the agent in Rushville guarantees it to stop falling hair, itching scalp, and cure dandruff in two weeks, or money back.

Parisian Sage makes women's hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant in a few days.

The price of this delightful money-back hair dressing is only 50 cents a bottle at F. B. Johnson & Co's or direct, all charges prepaid, by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BY THE WAYSIDE

Two bosom friends were at odds over the ownership of an umbrella. "I tell you it's mine," persisted the first man.

"And I say that umbrella's mine," asserted the other.
"You're wrong. I've had it for six months at least. See the initials, L. S.?"
"Yes, but they're not your initials."
"No; they are the initials of the man borrowed it from."

Do Up Your Lace Curtains

In the New Way

The old fashioned way of stretching and drying lace curtains was to lay them flat on the carpet.
This hard work made your back ache and your thumbs sore. Often the curtains—after being washed, were soiled all over again by this clumsy way of drying them.
Now a new way has been found that lets you have fresh, clean, curtains all the time. You will know how easy it is when you

Use the "No-Piece" Stretcher

It's a frame of clean, white bass-wood, made so that it will take any size of curtain.
You can put a curtain in it in no time, simply and easily. It dries the most delicate curtains without kinks or wrinkles.
What you save on laundry bills in three months will pay for the stretcher. Makes your lace curtains last almost three times as long.
Please come in at your first opportunity, and let us show you how perfectly the stretcher works.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

DIED WITHOUT AN HEIR.

(Shelbyville Republican)
A "hairless" calf was born on the farm of Edward Moberly, near this city, yesterday. The animal was short-lived, however, as it only lived about ten hours.

TOUCHED ANDY AGAIN.

(Connersville Examiner.)
Mayor Barrows Monday morning received a letter from Andrew Carnegie, announcing that the 'library man' has concluded to meet the request of the local library board for an increase of his appropriation for the Connersville library.
The amount of the increase is $2500, bringing the total amount of Mr. Carnegie's donation for library purposes up to $20,000.

WAS PECULIAR CASE.

(Richmond Palladium.)
One of the most peculiar cases that has been brought to the attention of the judge of the circuit court in several years is that of Harvey Borton, which came up for final settlement today. More than a year ago Borton was declared insane and since has been in the custody of the sheriff. In order that the man might appear in court it was necessary for the court to issue a writ of habeas corpus against the sheriff, commanding him to produce the body of Borton in court. Borton went unaccompanied.

An examination of Borton's mental condition was made by the court and he decided the man ought to be restored to his legal standing as a sane man. Borton was questioned and his mentality seemed sound. The proceedings to have Borton's sanity restored were instituted by Edward Muey.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudelet will show the films, "The Little Coquette" and "What a Uniform Will Do," tonight. A new talking picture will also be shown. Miss Clara Gregg will sing "Golden Arrow." The popular Saturday matinees will have the same programs.

At the Grand theater tonight and tomorrow night will be shown the film "Left Out or the Little Street Waif." It is a very pathetic story told in motion pictures. Miss Iva Brown will sing the illustrated song, "It's the Pretty Things You Say."

At the Palace theater tonight and tomorrow night, and Saturday matinees, in addition to new films, Jack Surat will sing both an illustrated and a hit song without pictures. On Saturday night, the vocalist, Billy Moore will be here and Moore and Surat will sing a duet.

The great Chicago success, "A Broken Idol," one of the best musical comedies written in years, will be the attraction at the Auditorium in Connersville next Monday evening. No doubt it will attract a large number of Rushville play-goers. Connersville is getting many excellent productions, not as many as Indianapolis, but the same class shows. Next Thursday night they have "The Great Divide," one of the strongest plays ever written by an American. Those who have not seen this play have lost one-third of a full theatrical education. What will probably interest Rushville people more than either of the two shows mentioned is "Polly of the Circus" which will be at the Auditorium next Wednesday night. The story of the play has been running in the Daily Republican and many people are "just crazy" to see the play. A big crowd will probably go from here on Wednesday night. In the three offerings of the week play-goers have a menu to order from that runs from soup to zoedont. Rushville people can now order tickets by mail and leave here at 7:50 o'clock, arriving at the theater in ample time before a curtain.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

BY MARGARET MAYO

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

"What!" cried Jim in alarm. He faced about and saw Eloise. He guessed the truth. A few quick strides brought him to the entrance curtains. He threw them back and looked into the ring.

"My God! Why don't Barker stop her?"

"What is it?" called Douglas. He forgot the deacon in his terror at Jim's behavior, and Strong was able to slip away unnoticed.

"She's goin' to ride! She's goin' to ride Barbarian!"

Douglas crossed to his side and looked. Polly was springing on to the back of Barbarian. He was a poorly trained horse, used by the other girl for more showy but less dangerous feats than Polly's.

"She's goin' through her regular turn with him. She's trying to break her neck," said Jim. "She wants to do it. It's your fault!" he cried, turning upon Douglas with bloodshot eyes. He was half insane. He cared little whom he wounded.

"Why can't we stop her?" cried Douglas, unable to endure the strain. He took one step inside the entrance. "No, no; not that!" Jim dragged him back roughly. "If she sees you now it will be the end." They watched in silence. "She's over the first part," Jim whispered at last.

Douglas drew back, his muscles tense, as he watched the scene inside the ring. Eloise stood at the pastor's side, horror-stricken at Polly's reckless behavior. She knew Barbarian. It was easy to guess the end.

"She's comin' to the hoops," Jim whispered hoarsely.

"Barbarian don't know that part. I never trained him," the other girl said.

Polly made the first leap toward the hoops. The horse was not at fault; it was Polly. She plunged wildly. The audience started. She caught her footing with an effort. One, two, three hoops were passed. She threw herself across the back of the horse and hung head downward as he galloped around the ring. The band was playing loudly; the people were cheering. She rose to meet the last two hoops.

"She's swayin'!" Jim shrieked in agony. "She's goin' to fall!" He covered his face with his hands.

Polly reeled and fell at the horse's side. She mounted and fell again. She rose and staggered in pursuit.

"I can't bear it!" groaned Douglas. He rushed into the ring, unconscious of the thousands of eyes bent upon his black ministerial garb, and caught the

"If aught but death part thee and me," slip of a girl in his arms just as she was about to sink fainting beneath the horse's hoofs.

Barker brought the performance to a halt with a crack of his whip. The audience was on tiptoe. White faced clowns and gayly attired acrobats crowded around Polly and the pastor.

Douglas did not see them. He had come into his own.

"He's bringin' her out," whispered Eloise, who still watched at the entrance. Jim dared not look up. His head was still in his hands.

"Is it over?" he groaned.

"I don't know. I can't tell yet."

She stepped aside as Douglas came out of the tent, followed by a swarm of performers. He knelt on the soft grass and rested Polly's head upon his knee. The others pressed about them. It seemed to Douglas that he waited hours; then her white lids quivered and opened, and the color crept back to her lips.

"It's all right, Jim!" called one of the men from the crowd. "She's only fainted." The big fellow had waited in his tracks for the verdict.

Polly's eyes looked up into those of the parson. A thrill shot through his veins.

"It was no use, was it?" She shook her head, with a sad little smile. He knew that she was thinking of her failure to get out of his way.

"That's because I need you so much, Polly, that God won't let you go away from me." He drew her nearer to him, and the warm blood that shot to her cheeks brought back her strength. She rose unsteadily and looked about her. Jim came toward her, white and trembling.

"All right, Polly?"

"Oh, Muvver Jim!" She threw herself into his arms and clung to him, sobbing weakly.

No one could ever remember just how the audience left the big top that night, and even Barker had no clear idea of how Jim took down the tents, loaded the great wagons and sent the caravan on its way.

When the last wagon was beginning to climb the long, winding road of the moonlit hill Jim turned to Polly, who stood near the side of the deserted ring. His eyes traveled from her to the parson, who waited near her. She was in her street clothes now, the little brown Quakerish dress which she had chosen to wear so much since her return from the parsonage.

"I guess I won't be makin' no mistake this time," he said, and he placed her hand in that of the parson.

"Goodby, Muvver Jim," faltered Polly.

He stooped and touched her forehead with his lips. A mother's spirit breathed through his kiss.

"I'm glad it's like this," he said, then turned away and followed the long, dotted line of winding lights disappearing slowly over the hill.

Her eyes traveled after him.

Douglas touched the cold little hand at her side.

"I belong with them," she said, still gazing after Jim and the wagons.

"You belong with me," he answered in a firm, grave voice, and something in the deep, sure tones told her that he was speaking the truth. She lifted one trembling hand to his shoulder and looked up into his face.

"Whither thou goest will I go; where thou diest will I die."

He drew her into his arms.

"The Lord do so to me and more also if aught but death part thee and me."

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The play, "Polly of the Circus" will be in Connersville next Wednesday night, and it may be well to add for the benefit of those who have found the serial story by the same name quite interesting and unique that the play far exceeds and would prove doubly interesting to those who have read it.

The company is one of the best on the road and is the same one that played to a long run in Chicago. Tickets can be secured by mail and Rushville people can leave here at 7:50 and arrive in Connersville in good time for the play. The price of tickets is $1.50, $1.75 and 50 cents.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

And you will generally find that they know of more good, intelligent people, those of good sense and discernment in your vicinity who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's World-famed Family Medicines than by all other proprietary medicines. They have been making these cures right along for over forty years and altogether likely you will easily find people all about you who will be only too glad to say a good word for them. ## THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson III.—Second Quarter, For
April 18, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts ix, 1-30.
Memory Verses 15, 16—Golden Text,
Acts ix, 4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

When the Holy Spirit records anything several times He must desire to call special attention to it, as we suggested in a recent lesson. He must therefore intend that we give good heed to the account of Saul's conversion, recorded in this lesson and in chapters xxii and xxvi, and also to Paul's statements elsewhere concerning it, as in Gal. i, 13-17; 1 Tim. i, 11-17. This chosen vessel (verse 15) was permitted to blindly go his own way till the time came, which God had always foreseen, to stop him and turn him about in the right direction. Let all those who are pleading with God for wayward sons or daughters, husbands or wives or possibly for parents be encouraged by this wonderful manifestation of the grace of God, and may they hear the Spirit saying, "Thy prayer is heard" (Luke i, 13; Acts x, 31; 1 John v, 14, 15), and then patiently but expectantly await God's time to make manifest the answer. Could there possibly be a seemingly more hopeless case than this one? And yet see how wondrously God wrought when His time came. Notwithstanding the triumphant death of Stephen and all that Saul must have heard and seen at that time he still continued his murderous career and was on his way to Damascus in the same spirit when suddenly from being a persecutor of Jesus he became His most devoted bond slave and faithful witness. He saw the risen and ascended Jesus (verse 17) as truly as Stephen did; he heard himself addressed by name in that double form by which the Lord addressed Abraham and Moses and Samuel; he was convinced of his great sin and, with true penitence, cried, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" Soon it was reported everywhere "that he who persecuted us in times past now preacheth the faith which once he destroyed" (Gal. i, 23). The light from heaven was a great light above the brightness of the sun, and Paul said, "I could not see for the glory of that light." What blessed blindness, a sight of Jesus making us blind to all else! May it ever be so with us, blind and deaf to all but the face and voice of Jesus. The Lord's question, "Why persecutest thou Me?" was in the Hebrew tongue, for which there must have been some reason. Was it because Saul prided himself on being "an Hebrew of the Hebrews?" (Phil. iii, 5). Our Lord's reply to Saul's "Who art thou, Lord?" was, "I am Jesus of Nazareth whom thou persecutest," the name that Saul had so hated and that so many proud Jews hate to this day. When Saul saw the hated one as the Lord of Glory his mouth was forever shut concerning himself and his previous good opinion of himself, and from that day he was ready to die for Him in whose righteousness alone he now rejoiced (Phil. iii, 8, 9). The humbled man was three days without sight or food or drink (verse 9). He was led by the hand into Damascus and must have had a never to be forgotten experience in the revelation of his Lord and of himself which came to him those days. Unless we can truly say from the heart Rom. vii, 18, we need to see more clearly the beauty of the Lord until the constant utterance of our heart becomes "Not I, but Christ," "Not I, but the grace of God" (Gal. ii, 20; 1 Cor. xv, 10). It is refreshing to meet in this record a good man named Ananias, for the other one of chapter v so dishonored the name that to this day it is a rare thing to find a man of that name. It is so much more easy to smirch a name than to redeem it. How careful we should be not to dishonor or bring reproach upon that worthy and beautiful name by which we are called, the name of Jesus Christ our Lord (Jas. ii, 7).

Let us also remember that all ill treatment of those who bear that name means to Him ill treatment of Himself, even as He taught when here in His humiliation, "He that despiseth you despiseth me" (Luke x, 16).

How honored this Ananias was to be the Lord's messenger to Saul with such a message, "Receive thy sight and be filled with the Holy Ghost!" Andrew was greatly honored to be permitted to bring his brother Simon, as we think of the 3,000 who came through Simon Peter at Pentecost, but think of what God wrought through Saul. If the humble man who emphasized to the young stranger in the congregation that stormy morning that he never would be happy till he "looked and lived" had never led another soul to Christ than C. H. Spurgeon, would he not have been honored beyond measure?

A chosen vessel to bear His name before gentiles and kings and the children of Israel, to know His will and see Him and hear His voice and be His witness, to open people's eyes and turn them from darkness to light and from the power of Satan unto God that they might receive forgiveness of sins and eternal inheritance—what an honor, what a commission! These words were spoken to Saul, but written for us if we are willing to be vessels for His use. Many are called, but few are chosen, not because He wants only a few, but because so few are willing to be His choice ones—chosen to suffer as well as to minister.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer-Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning April 18, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.
Topic.—Why we observe the Lord's day.
—Mark xvi, 1-6; Acts xx, 7; 1 Cor. xvi, 2; Rev. i, 10.

A question perhaps more pertinent than the one before us might be, Why do we not observe the Lord's day? Sabbath desecration is one of our great modern evils. But this fact alone is sufficient for us to study the reasons for observing the Lord's day, with the prayerful hope that it may lead us, even as Christians, to a better observance of the day and for truer and loftier purposes.

The Lord's day is used with discrimination. The Sabbath of the Jews was the seventh day of the week. The Sabbath of Christians is the first day of the week, commonly called in the New Testament "the Lord's day."

1. The Lord's day is observed as a memorial of the resurrection of Christ. The change in days was undoubtedly made to commemorate this crowning event in Christ's life. He arose on the first day of the week and met his disciples. He appeared to them eight days later, which was again the first day of the week. He ascended the fortieth day after His resurrection, which was also the first day of the week. The apostles continued to meet on this day and called it "the Lord's day." Though with no recorded command to change the days, yet in practice they did so as recorded from Acts to Revelation, where John in i, 10, declares that he "was in the spirit on the Lord's day." Christ's resurrection was an event of such vast importance that it made even such a signal change a most worthy one. Let us think of the Sabbath as the Lord's day and give it to Him as the Jews gave the seventh day to God. 2. The Lord's day is to be observed as a day of public and private worship. On this day, at Philippi, Peter preached the gospel to a multitude of people, and Paul urged the Corinthians to lay aside offerings for God's work. "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him." Here are two acts of public worship—preaching and giving—and no doubt they took place in the public congregation with the other parts of public worship, such as prayer and singing. The Lord's day should be a day of worship. The house of God should not be neglected. Private worship cannot take its place, and much less the worship of nature or of nothing. Churchgoing may seem to some an insignificant thing, but it is of vital importance. Few souls are saved or grow in grace outside the church. It is next to impossible. We say, "It is the only day we have for recreation, for visiting friends, for getting out in the air," etc. The fact is it is the only day of the week which we have not got. It is "the Lord's day" instead of ours, and we should give unto Him what belongs to Him, "not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is."

3. John was in the spirit on the Lord's day and had a wonderful vision. The Lord's day is our day for spiritual uplift and spiritual vision. But to have it so we must yield ourselves unto the Holy Spirit and let Him pervade us. The spirit of sin, of worldliness and of indifference will give us no heavenly vision on the Lord's day.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. ii, 1, 2; Ex. xx, 2-11; Lev. xxv, 1-7; Num. xv, 32-36; Neh. x, 31; Isa. lviii, 13, 14; Jer. xvii, 21-27; Luke iv, 16; John xx, 19-23; Rom. xiv, 5-12.

"St. Paul, 1909," Rally Song.

Minnesota's vigorous field secretary, Walter D. Howell, has written the following stirring song, which is being sung everywhere to arouse interest in the coming great international convention at St. Paul. The tune is "The Battle Cry of Freedom!" We are marching in the southland, we're marching in the north, Shouting the message of Endeavor! In the east and in the west see the army going forth Shouting the message of Endeavor!

CHORUS.

For Christian Endeavor we sing as we march,
True to our motto, "For Christ and the church,"
And in nineteen hundred nine then we'll rally in St. Paul,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!
See, the starry flag is waving beside the union jack,
Leading the army of Endeavor.
And our march is ever onward, no thought of turning back,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!
We are marching for Immanuel, our Captain and our King,
Shouting the message of Endeavor! From Quebec to California we make his praises ring,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

Let us rally in convention, full thirty thousand strong,
Rally the army of Endeavor!
And we'll win a mighty conflict against the power of wrong,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!
